I think we are the only defense for our kids — games shops, other parents, schools can’t or won’t protect them.

This is more common than most people think, and it can happen at any age, for a variety of reasons.

That means eating right, taking the time to exercise, and — yes — talking to our doctors about what checkups we need.